Sheriff Grant was also seen by The Evenino World reporter. "I think," said the Sheriff, "that the Mayor's attacks on Tammany Hall are not deserved. We have never demanded any appointments from him.

"Whenever any vacancy has occurred we have recommended him a list of good and capable men to select from. That is all we have ever done.

"He is now trying to place Tammany Hall on the defensive, and I will not say what in my opinion is his object. He will, however, fall in his object.

A prominent Tammany Hall Chief, who did not care to have his name used, said: "I hope the County Democracy will nominate Mayor Hewitt. It would break up their organization. I know of at least eight County Democracy district leaders who would boit the organization should he be renominated.

"Judge Murray has openly declared he will not support Mayor Hewitt. Yes, sir, there will be nothing left of the present County Democracy organization if Mayor Hewitt should be the candidate of that machine. The break of the Purroy people would be nothing in comparison to the break of the anti-Hewitt County Democrats."

"Such an exigency would undoubtedly arise if Tammany Hall should put up a candidate for the office for the sole apparent purpose of securing the control of the appointive power to the offices in the gift of the Mayor. The question before the people would be: Does the government of the city of New York exist for the sole purpose of supplying Tammany Hall with patronage?" I should expect every good citizen, whatever his poilties, to be arrayed against that principle."

Mayor Hewitt had not arrived at his office at noon to-day. It is not likely, however, that at present he will have anything more to say on the Mayoralty question. He will probably await to see the effect of his latest interview, and to ascertain what position

Commissioner Croker was on his way to his country residence at Saybrook, Conn., when seen by an Evening World reporter. "I was not surprised," he said, "to read the remarks of Mayor Hewitt. He has been antagonistic to Tammany Hall for some time, and our organization has certainly not given him any cause for the attack.

Two years ago we proposed him for Mayor, and he was offered the nomination. No pledges were asked him. He has already admitted that he was tendered and accepted the nomination without any question having been asked him, and without a suggestion being made to him about his acts if elected Mayor.

Coffee Exchange, $1,376; Produce Exchange, $1,588.95; Stock Exchange, $2,893, and H. B. Hollins & Co., $2,428.

Stenographer Sherman, of Mayor Hewitt's staff, this morning found several contributions were made by anonymous people. The total received at the Mayor's office this morning was $752.25.

Already Mayor Hewitt has forwarded $28,009.86, and to-day's contributions will swell this total to $28,762.11.

This, together with the handsome sums sent by private parties and The World, will make New York's contribution up to date fully $40,000. The Relief Committee at Jacksonville said last week that at least $50,000 would be required to keep want from the city's door for one month. SWEPT GVER FLAT ROCK DAM.

Accident to a Party Who Were Beating on the Schuylkill River.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.!

PHILADELPHIA. Sept. 14.—Eugene Webb and Frank A. Corfrey, accompanied by Miss Minuic Taffley and Miss Rose Essick, all about twenty-two years of age, were out rowing last night on the Schuylkill River.

The current was very strong and the boat got beyond their control, and was swept over Flat Rock Dam. The boat was upset, throwing the whole party into the water. Webb succeeded in reaching shore and raising an alarm. Parties at once started to look for the remainder of the party. Miss Essick was found clinging to a rock, with life almost extinct from exposure, two hours later.

The other two, Corfrey and Miss Taffley, by a rock of the party into the remainder of the party. Miss Essick was found clinging to a rock, with life almost extinct from exposure, two hours later.

The other two, Corfrey and Miss Taffley, was recovered to the clerks have almost abandoned the hope that his true name will ever be known. Mr. J. A. Fynes, the managing editor of the Copper, which is an authority on dramatic matters, says that the evidence connecting the dead man with the playwright Seebohm is purely circumstantial, and nothing more definite could be learned until the arrival of the cablegram sent by him yesterday. Soon after his controversy with Mrs. Burnnett. Seebohm's name ceased to appear in the English dramatic papers, and Mr. Fynes, who was greatly interested in the "Little English dramatic papers, and Mr. Fynes, who was greatly interested in the "Little Lord Fauntlervy" case, cabe de to London to inquire what had become of him, and was informed by one of his correspondents the world, and this, coupled with the name on the coat and astred, as well as his comverted to the coat and astred, as well as his comverted to the coat and astred, as well as his comverted to the coat and astred, as well as his comverted to the coat and astred, as well as his comverted to ries had been made at the hotel this morning,

WANTED TO MEET DEMPSEY.

The Young Man Who Signed a " P. M." and Turned Somersaults at Bellevue.

Officer Hefferman, of the Fast Sixty-seventh street station, found a young man acting in a peculiar manner in the street and took him to Fellevue Hospital. The prisoner told the clerk that he was William Strauss, P. M., aged eighteen years, of 141 Hume street, Brooklyn, E. D. His sister, he said, was Kate Strauss, P. M., of Cook street, Brook-

Strauss insisted on the clerk putting the "P. M." after his name and his sister's, but would not tell what it meant. He was very eager to meet "Jack" Dempsey in the prize ring, and the mention of the pugilist's name fairly set him in convulsions. He was poorly dressed, but said he had $100 that he wished to distribute to the poot.

After Strauss had turned several somer-saults in the office, Dr. Douglass sent him to the insane pavilion.

from Canada.

He Cheated Eleven Maiden L ave Merchants and Fled with His Booty-Arrested in Toronto While Trying to Seil the Jewels and Handed Over to Our Detectives-Now in a Cell at Headquarters.

Charles W. Schnell, the Brooklyn man who swindled downtown jewellers out of $11,000 worth of jewelry and diamonds, is in a cell at Police Headquarters, and Inspector Byrnes has recovered or will secure all the brilliant booty which the young optician ran away with.

Schnell had desk room in Ludwig, Missen & Co.'s store, 18 John street, and on a plea that he had an opportunity to dispose of some jewelry, secured $500 worth of diamonds.

Following up this advantage, he played the nemorandum check dodge and swindled the following firms: Hadeilpy & Sons, 171 Broadway, two diamonds worth $475; Block Broadway, two diamonds worth $475; Block & Co., 14 Maiden lane, four diamond rings worth $1,000; E. Adler & Co., 14 Maiden lane, duamond earrings and studs worth $1,800; Mather & Wentworth, 16 Maiden lane, diamond earrings and studs worth $800; Marten, Copeland & Co., 9 Maiden lane, gold chains worth $600; P. Brethmar, 64 Nassau street, one diamond worth $400; S. M. Farreil, 36 Maiden lane, gold watches worth $500; Middleton Brothers, 16 Maiden lane, gold watches worth $500; Middleton Brothers, 16 Maiden lane, gold watches worth $300; Ramsgate & Co., 10 Maiden lane, diamong ring worth $200.

$300; Ramsgate & Co., 10 Maiden lane, diamong ring worth $200.
Several other firms were victimized by the shrewd Brooklynite. Schnell packed up his offects, closed his house in Gates avenue, Brooklyn, and started with his wife and children for Springfield, Mass.

Inspector Byrnes was called upon, and he sent telegrams to Canada, satisfied that the American thief would seek shelter there, Detectives Heidelberg and Sheridan traced Schnell to Springfield, captured two watches with his wife, traced him to Albany and learned that a man answering his description had taken passage on a train for Toronto, Canada.

Accompanied by two of the swindled mer-chants, Heidelberg started for Canada. Meantime Schnell, while trying to dispose of two handsome diamonds, was arrested in Ottawa by Detective Groo, of the Custom-House, on suspicion of being a struggler, and the Chief of Police, took him in custody on the strength of Inspector Byrnes's despatches.

Schnell was passing under the name of Theodore Willis, of Brooklyn, but when confronted by Heidelberg, Mr. Copeland and Mr. Nissen he admitted his identity and consented to come to New York without the fermality of requisition, to make full restitutermainty of requisition, to make full restitu-tion and take the chances of a trial here.

He arrived last night and made a full con-fession of guilt. The diamonds now in pos-session of the Custom authorities at Ottawa will be turned over to the Inspector and sur-rendered to the merchants who were so easily victimized by Schnell.

rendered to the merchants who were so easily victimized by Schnell.

In an interview with Inspector Byrnes he told that official where most of the missing jewelry was. His wife, who resides with her mother at Springfield, Mass., was visited and found to be in possession of two watches and two chains, one of which is the property of Bernard, of Pearl street, while the other is owned by Middleton & Brother. Schnell will be taken to the Tombs Court this afternoon.

Inspector Byrnes feels joyful over having brought back one American refugee from Canada, and the affair is spoken of as the Inspector holding court in Ottawa.

He does not believe that Mayor Hewitt could be elected if nominated by the Demogracy, as he thinks could be elected if nominated by the County Democracy, as he thinks the Republicans will nominate a straight ticket in a Presidential year and that Mr. Hewitt cannot possibly poll more than 25,000 Republican votes, and certainly not more than 25,000 Democratic votes. This total added to the Independent vote that he might get would not elect him.

Then Commissioner Croker thinks the figures are too high, as he is confident that Mayor Hewitt's strength among the Republicans would be overestimated if their party nominates a strong Republican for Mayor, And the Commissioner does nht believe that Mayor Hewitt Shocking Accident.
